The orders of news dealers alone on Saturday last exceeded the daily circulation of any other Washington paper, and to this may be added the increased circulation of THE STAR by carriers throughout the District. Necessity for School Buildings The urgent necessity for additional and better school buildings has been represented by the school authorities year after year, and so far with little avail. At the present time out of a total of 368 school-rooms occupied, 130 are rented, and we have the authority not only of the school officers but also of the health officer of the District for stating that a majority of them are ill-adapted, and a large number are totally unfit to be occupied by school-children. Thus it will be seen that more than one-third of our school-children during the present year, or about 9,000 children, are compelled to attend school in these rented buildings or go unedu-

Looked at from a financial point of view we find the following state of facts to exist:-The Commissioners have asked for $35,000 to pay for the rent of these wretched buildings for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1881, and $20,000 for repairs-a considerable portion of which is to be expended in fitting up, and putting and keeping in order these rented buildings. Notwithstanding this state of things we understand that no item has been included in the school estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30,1881, for new school buildings-indicating that matters will rapidly go on from bad to worse. We think this is a mistaken policy, and that a good appropriation should be made annually, out of e District funds for school buildings; and we are glad to see that at least one of the legislators for the District of Columbia holds and has expressed the same views. In a recent debate in the House of Representatives on the bill for the construction of a bridge across the Potomac river, the Hon, Mr. Cobb, of Indiana, said: "I call the attention of gentlemen to the fact that today the District of Columbia and the people of the United States are paying $35,000 a year rent for public school buildings, and, at the same time, the superintendent of public instruction tells me that these school buildings are, many of them, totally unfit for children of the District to be taught in. Now, if we have to pay $35,000 a year rent for buildings for school purposes in this District, I ask how much money ought to be appropriated for the building of school-houses Would it not be well for this House to consider whether we ought not to build schoolhouses, and whether the necessity for building school-houses for the education of the children of this District is not ten-fold greater than the necessity for the construction of a bridge across the Potomac river when there are already facilities for crossing that river? It is better that for a few years they should pay pretty high tolls than that the children of this District should go uneducated. I say to you that with the estimates of the taxable property in this District, and the amount of revenue to be raised from the people during the present year, they will not be enabled to have their educational interests cared for as they should be, without borrowing money, or without the government of the United State coming forward and through the Representatives of the people here appropriating the money of the people of the United States for the purpose of keeping up the public schools of the District." Mr. Cobb appreciates the importance and requirements of public schools. He comes from a state that has a school fund derived from lands donated to it by the United States government, amounting to $9,000,000. Indiana has taken good care of her school fund, and has built up one of the most complete and extensive school systems in the United States.

Washington is able to present so many inducements and attractions that it has come to be the most popular point in the country for the meeting place of national associations and organizations. The exceptions have been the national political conventions, which so far have met elsewhere than at the national capital. From various causes the experiences of past conventions have not been satisfactory in the case of scarcely any city where they have been held, and there is now a disposition manifested to listen favorably to the claims of Washington as the meeting place. Among the advantages presented by this city, are abundant hotel and boarding-house accommodations; a genial climate, suited to visitors from all parts of the country; a variety of objects of interest and attraction to make a visit here agreeable; a relief from the pressure of a local lobby, in favor of a local presidential candidate; and a hearty disposition upon the part of our citizens to make the experiment of holding a national party convention here so satisfactory and successful, that Washington shall come to be the recognized place of holding such conventions in

The well-circulated rumor of a difference of opinion between the President and Secretary Evarts as to what ought to be done in regard to the subject of inter-oceanic communication turns out to have been the invention of some sensation-loving correspondent. The President, it is said, will avail himself of the opportunity offered by the House resolution calling upon him for information, to send to Congress a message of the Inter-oceanic subject and his views will be in harmony with those of the Secretary of State. There is no lack of schemes or of persons to enerse and urge them upon the attention of Cong ss. The lobbles are already becoming very i miliar with discussions upon the inter-oceanic classion, and the backers of each and every plan are anxious to have official approval. Next to such approval some of them desire the name of having it, and therefore various rumors are kept afloat. The President will, no doubt, advise a policy that will protect American interests and American rights.

One of the arguments being used in behalf of Cincinnati as the place for holding the next national democratic convention is that the last democratic president who was elected was nominated in that city. This was in 1856, and Buchanan was the nominee. The advocates of St. Louis claim that the man that city nominated was elected, but counted out; to which Cincinnati responds, "That's not our fault." While the quarrel between these two rival cities progresses Washington stands realy to catch the plum.

In a published letter explaining his bill to reimburse the colored depositors of the Freedmen's bank for their losses by the collapse of that institution Representative O'Connor, of South Carolina, says that less than a million dollars will make up the deficiency left after paying out the assets of the bank. He holis that as the name of the government was used to induce depositors to confide their money to the bank, it is the duty of the government to make good the losses sustained by those de-

Chief Justice Waite went to New Orleans to witness the Mardi-Gras carnival, and he has been awarded what the participants in those festivities consider a high honor.
